JOHN P. HYATT is now associated with us in conducting THE TRANSCRIPT. He is an experienced newspaper man and will endeavor to give our subscribers the benefit of his knowledge. It is the desire of the present owners and managers to make THE TRANSCRIPT better in every respect than it has ever been, to give the latest local and foreign news in a pleasant and readable form, and to give to the subscriber and the advertiser such value for their money as they are seldom able to secure through a local newspaper. As an advertising medium it will retain all of its present advantages and gain others; as a readable, and at the same time reliable and respectable newspaper, THE TRANSCRIPT will be held up to and taken beyond the point already reached and so long maintained. A constant effort will be made to give a full summary of important local, State, Peninsula and general events. We hope to make THE TRANSCRIPT especially reliable to every family in rural New Castle county.

"With enmity toward none and charity toward all" we present to the public a weekly paper second to no other on the Peninsula. From our many friends we hope to receive that measure of encouragement in a business way which our efforts shall deserve.

THE PEOPLE of other states are only slightly interested in the election of a Governor of Ohio. While every man is happy to see the man of his own political faith elected, the fact remains that only as the coming election in Ohio foreshaeows events of the next national election, is it of interest to outsiders. As an indorsement of the new tariff law the election of McKinley would be a failure for the simple reason that he has dodged that issue in his campaign. The people of the whole country are interested in the tariff question and that will be the issue in national politics for some time to come.

The sad ending of a quarrel between two boys, the particulars of which will be found in our local column, should serve as a warning to parents who continue to allow their children to roam about the town at night. Had these two boys been at their homes Tuesday evening one of them would now be free from the effects of a serious wound ane the other would be the happy possessor of a clear conscience. Parents are morally bound to take care of and protect their children and any unnecessary or unusual indulgence is not only a violation of a sacred trust, but it is a direct assault upon the moral character of youths who are not well enough versed in wordly affairs to resist temptation or the impulse of the moment. No parent who allows children to expose themselves to danger is performing his duty toward his family. Every impulse of the parent is to gratify the wishes of the children, but there are many times at which such gratification leads to serious injury. The boy who goes to his home in the early evening and there finds some pleasant and instructive entertainment is the boy who will make the good man; even if such is not the result the parents will have the sweet consciousness of having done their duty. In childhood the character is found. As the twig is bent so is the tree inclined. To guard against evil keep the boys at home; there the parents teach them all the good or all the evil which it is necessary for them to know.

THROUGH the appointment of an incompetent representative to Chili, the United States is now placed in the position of a big bully domineering over a small boy. The Chilians are just recovering from the effects of a civil war and are naturally irritable and suspicious. It is asserted that Minister Egan aided the defeated party and so made himself obnoxious to the congressionalists. The movement, at a critical time of a warship belonging to the United States prevented certain manoeuvres of the congressionalist army and precipitated a great battle in which thousands of men were killed. Considering these acts premeditated and for the benefit of Balmaceda's government, the other side does not feel inclined to submit to further indignities and consequently the citizens of the United States residing in Chili are molested in many ways. War vessels are being sent to Chili, but the Chilians refuse to be scared. The whole trouble comes from the appointment of a political renegade to an important position as a reward for political service in the presidential campaign of 1888. This is an example of the vigorous foreign policy which was to characterize the administration of Mr. Blaine.

THE discovery of natural gas at ...nsburg, Wicomico county, Md., ...g much comment and is well ...vestigation of the scienti... country as such dis... ...ow continues must set ... theories of the ...

ed, but about 1875, upon the assurance of a geologist that fuel must be near the ore, after diligent search coal was found and large furnaces were at once erected. If this theory can be corroborated at Parsonsburg, it must "boom" not only that vicinity but "Iron Hill" near Newark, Del., where large deposits of iron ore have been worked for at least a century. In furtherance of the theory it may be well to remember that the iron works nearly due east from Parsonsburg were operated by an uncle of Ex-Gov. Ponder years ago, and afterward, owned and operated by Hon. Irving Spence a relative of Dr. I. S. Vallandigham of this place. Perhaps the gas may be found nearer the former site of these old furnaces, and if so why not bore at Iron Hill for coal, oil or gas? We commend this matter to the faculty of Delaware College (who are on the spot,) as in the line of their legitimate duties, and a discovery of fuel at or near Iron Hill would be of more benefit to Newark and this State than any other discovery we can imagine as possible. The late Geo. P. Whitaker was confident during the latter years of his life that such fuel could be found there, and the discovery of gas at a point as remote from the coal deposits, as Parsonsburg would now seem to corroborate such view. Certainly it is worth the effort.

IT IS not a pleasing thought," writes the careful editor of the American Wool Reporter, "but its truth is admitted by all who have an intimate knowledge of the men's-wear industry that the industry is in the worst condition in years, if not in all time. This comes of taxing wool, and putting such a distance between the backs of sheep and the backs of men that artificers who are engaged in turning the fleece of the sheep into coats and petticoats for men and women are robbed on the road. With wool on the free list, all associated interests would be instantly prosperous.—Philadelphia Record.

So it is with tin. With free tin the tax of about one hundred dollars now paid by each farmer growing tomatoes for the Odessa cannery would be allowed to remain where it would do the most good, i. e. in the farmer's pocket.

A du PONT CONSPIRACY.

DETECTIVES MAKE ARRESTS WHICH MAY LEAD TO IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS.

An evident conspiracy to wreck the wealthy E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, powder manufacturers near Wilmington, has been nipped in the bud and Edward Clark, aged 40 years, his wife Mary of the same age and their son Joseph aged 19, are in New Castle jail. They were arrested last Friday, specifically charged with having set fire to three large barns of the du Pont corporation in 1889 and 1890.

Previous to the fearful explosion of the Upper Yards' plant of the powder mills on Oct. 7th, 1890, when thirteen lives were lost, a half-hundred dwellings destroyed and $150,000 damage done, several dastardly attempts were made to set off the works by scattering matches in places where they would ignite by friction and thus fire the powder. The attempts and the barn burnings, followed with comparative rapidity, and when the explosion occurred there were mutterings of foul play. This could not be proved for the coroner's jury decided that William R. Green, a trusted and experienced employe, who was one of the victims, caused the disaster by dropping hot solder into powder which he was hermetically sealing.

After the incendiary burning of a barn owned by William du Pont and tenanted by Edward Seltzer near Rockland last January, but with which the Clarks are not charged, suspicions of conspiracy were again rife and the du Ponts offered $3,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the barn burners. Detectives without number worked unsuccessfully on the case. In March the Wilkinson force were secured, and upon the du Ponts' suggestion they shadowed the Clark family. On September 1st, the intimacy between detectives of assumed names, who numbered half a dozen including one female, and the Clark family had become so great that William Wilkinson leased the Columbus Inn, on the Kennett turnpike just beyond the limits of Wilmington, and started Edward Clark and Thomas H. Lynch in the saloon business. They did a thriving trade and nightly gatherings of the detectives and the family were the rule.

The climax was reached when John Traynor one of the detectives was ostensibly drugged to death at a "family circle," and taken away in the night. The detectives paid the Clarks to keep quiet on the "murder," and, to show their confidence, it is alleged, the suspicious family told all they knew of the deviltry. Recently when a suit against Lynch for some trivial disturbance at the Inn was about to be brought Mrs. Clark told State Detectives McVey and Witsil that she knew of a murder, but would tell no one.

The Clarks were arrested by surprise and taken before Justice Sasse, where, after an indirect hearing, and upon the recommendation of Attorney General Biggs they were each held in $15,000 bail on three charges. When Detective Traynor's name was called at the preliminary trial he emerged from a rear room and the appearance of a supposed dead man almost threw Mrs. Clark into hysterics. Vincent and Samuel Clark, other sons, were not molested. The trio protest their innocence. As they were lodged in jail without having been given a full trial, it is reported that Attordeys Henry C. Turner and William S. Hilles, will try and secure their release on a habeas corpus.

The detectives strongly intimate that the barn burnings and powder mill explosion were the work of the selfsame gang of conspirators and other arrests are daily expected, for ten of the Wilkinson men are now in Wilmington. The detectives are each paid from $10 to $20 per day. The reputed cause of the conspiracy is the discharge of numerous useless workmen by the du Ponts when General Henry du Pont, the head of the firm, died two years ago. The Wilkinson force worked so quietly that not a Wilmington or Delaware official knew of their presence.

William Gibbons of No. 1629 Lincoln street, Wilmington, was arrested in Philadelphia on Tuesday for complicity in the conspiracy. He is 28 years old and until recently lived in Christiana hundred near Wilmington. He is described as rather "wild." He was employed as a carpenter at the du Pont works, but two years ago, it is said, was discharged with others because of the scarcity of work. His father previous to his death was boss of the Hagley yard. Several weeks ago young Gibbons stole one of the birds at a cock fight at the Columbus Inn, and a warrant was sworn out for him. He left Wilmington to escape arrest with a man now supposed to have been one of the Wilkinson detectives.

Attorney General Biggs says the cases against the Clarks were regularly conducted, affidavits having been made before Justice Richard Ferguson, of Middletown.

Eugene Burns, aged 30 years, who who was also a carpenter employed by the du Ponts and who was discharged with Gibbons, was arrested yesterday for complicity. Both he and Gibbons were held in $5,000 bail by Magistrate Sasse and in default were committed to New Castle jail. James Moore gave testimony which directly implicates the Clarks and Burns and Gibbons with the heinous affair. Justice Ferguson of this town also issued out the Gibbons and Burns warrants.

Some Seasonable Dress Goods Bargains

Offered by Strawbridge & Clothier.

Our Great Dress Goods Stock has never been more attractive than it is at the present time. For six months prior to the opening of the season, we were busy preparing the vast collection that is now offered for sale. The foreign markets contribute many exclusive things that can only be found on our counters, and the best that the domestic manufacturers have to offer is also here in the greatest profusion.

We mention only a few of the medium price stuffs that are commanding considerable attention at present, and a few bargain lots that we are offering very much below market prices:

TION OF T[illegible] DELAWARE
W. C. T. U.

WHEREAS, We, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, of the State of Delaware, assembled in its twelfth Annual Convention, in order to secure an expression of the growing public sentiment on the liquor traffic, with perfect faith in the ultimate success of our righteous cause, and fervent gratitude to God for his helpful presence, do offer the following resolutions:

No. 1.—Resolved, That we declare our continued allegiance to the National W. C. T. U., and hereby express our loyalty and love for our National President, Miss Francis E. Willard, and again express our sympathy with those voters, who, in the fear of God and love of humanity, cast their ballots for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

No. 2.—Resolved, That believing the safety and happiness of our homes and county depend on the proper observance of the Lord's Day, we plead for an awakened conscience in regard to it, and denounce everything that menaces its sanctity.

No. 3.—Resolved, That recognizing the corrupting and injurious effects of tobacco upon the youth of our land, especially our own State of Delaware, we do deplore the failure of the legislature to pass our bill to prevent the sale of tobacco to minors, and we do here resolve to renew our efforts to procure legislation prohibiting the selling or giving tobacco, in the State, to minors.

No. 4.—Resolved, That as the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion is one of the simplest and most successful ways of interesting the children in the temperance cause, that we, as members of the W. C. T. U., will exert ourselves to greater diligence in carrying on this important department.

No. 5.—Resolved, That believing the safety and happiness of our homes is continually endangered by silence and indifference upon the subject of social purity, we would urge the attention of each local Union to this important department of our work, and recommend that they do all in their power that the laws relating to houses of ill-repute and the procuring of girls for immoral purposes be rigidly enforced.

No. 6.—Resolved, Realizing the influence of the press as an educator, we urge our Union to greater diligence in securing temperance columns in our local papers, and in reporting home work to our State Superintendent of press work.

No. 7.—Resolved, That we urge continued effort to further the work among the colored people, and recommend that each Union appoint a superintendent for this department.

No. 8.—Resolved, That we heartily endorse the Franchise department, believing that it will hasten the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and enable us to have better laws for the protection of our women and children.

No. 9.—Resolved, That having for the past year tested the wisdom of having the evangelistic department, we earnestly recommend that each local Union appoint an evangelist who shall work in and for the local Union.

No. 10.—Resolved, That we believe the principle of non-alcoholics in medicine to be important, and hereby pledge our co-operation with our National Temperance Hospital, as being the best practical illustration of the same, and urge that local unions distribute literature upon the subject.

No. 11.—WHEREAS, We have recently seen the necessity of an institution of the nature of a state industrial school for women and girls, be it

[illegible] That we proceed to take [illegible]es to bring the attention [illegible]rs to this matter, and [illegible] be placed before [illegible] for enact- [illegible] that end, [illegible]te from [illegible] our [illegible]

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

IS BEAUTY A BLESSING.

Of the beautiful women I have known but few have attained superiority of any kind. In marriage they have frequently made failures; why I don't known, unless the possession of great loveliness is incompatible with the possession of an equal amount of good judgment.

So much is expected by the woman accustomed to admiration that she plays and palters with her fate till the crooked stick is all that is left her. This we see exemplified again and again. While the earnest, lofty, sweet-smiling woman of the pale hair and doubtful line of nose has, perhaps, one true lover whose worth she has time to recognize, an acknowledged beauty will herself surrounded by a crowd of showy egotists whose admiration so dazes and bewilders herself upon the most importunate one in order to end the unseemly struggle.

Then the incentive to education, and to the cultivation of one's especial powers is lacking. Forgetting that the triumphs which have made a holiday of youth must lessen with the years, many a fair one neglects that training of the mind which gives to her who is poor in all else, an endless storehouse of wealth from which she can hope to produce treasures for her own delectation and that of those about her, long after the fitful bloom upon her handsome sister's cheek has faded with the roses of departed Summer.

Though the world can show instances here and there of women in whose dazzling glances genus and beauty struggle for equal recoguition, are they not the exception proving the rule? To win without effort, and yet to ignore these victories for the sake of the more lasting and honorable ones which follow the attainment of excellence in any one thing, means character, and character added to loveliness gives us those rare specimens of womanly perfection which assure us that poetry and art are not solely in the minds of men, but exist here and there in an embodied form for the encouragement and delight of struggling human nature.

For Over Fifty years

It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. "Mother, can I go out to fish?"
No, no, my little sonny,
You know you've got a swollen foot,
My precious little honey."

But they got a bottle of Salvation Oil, and he went and caught an eel, and ate it like a man.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. m5-1y

Miscellaneous Adv's.

"There's a good time coming," We have often heard it said, But in vain we listen for it, As it comes with noiseless tread, In its journey, even onward, To the future different shore. In Columbia's land of freedom May it knock at every door. With some comprehensive blessing, In which all may take a part, So that, in the home of freedom, There may be no aching heart. We shall welcome its arrival, When ourselves we strictly school In the precept and the practice Of the Savlour's golden rule; When an honest son of labor, A mechanic poor commands More respect than wealthy sluggards, With their jeweled idle hands. When a worthy man in homespun Shall be honored more by all, Than a knave in shining broadcloth, Though it came from TOWER HALL. Where a Bard in songs and sonnets, Says for Clothing all he can. Yet believe with Scotia's poet, "It is worth that makes the man." Men of worth are always prudent, And in buying Clothes so all Go where prudence points to guide them, To Mammoth TOWER HALL.
